Charge Policy

The following criteria will be used to determine whether individuals, faculty members, departments, administrative units or agencies and external organizations will be charged for the production of materials and related services.

Departments in Academic Affairs:

No charge for materials or labor will be made to faculty members or to departments for the production of multimedia supporting academic functions.

Exceptions:

1. Charges will be assessed for material produced for a publication authored by a faculty member for which remuneration will be received e.g. books, articles, etc., or where the publication is authored to satisfy the requirements of an advanced degree, e.g. thesis or dissertation.
2. Charges will be assessed for materials produced and related services to support ISU internally funded grants and research projects, as well as externally funded, i.e. state, federal and private agency grants and research projects.
3. IMDS does not currently serve academic organizations within the University (honor societies, clubs, etc). If such a service is provided, charges will be assessed for materials produced and/or services within the University including those where the faculty member is the mentor /leader.

Non- Academic Affairs Departments:

Charges will be assessed for materials produced and/or services provided to departments who are not under Academic Affairs. See the University Handbook for an ISU organizational chart.

External Organizations and Agencies:

IMDS does not currently serve entities external to the University. If such a service is provided, charges will be assessed for materials produced and/or services provided for external organizations and agencies such as public schools, colleges, universities, institutions, community organizations, etc.
