University

Introduction

The Indiana State University Career Center surveyed students graduating from Indiana State in August 2013, December 2013 and May 2014 to comprise the “Class of 2014”. The response set of Data includes 1308 of 1982 graduates from all five Colleges and the College of Graduate and Professional Studies. The purpose of the survey was to assess their current employment status and other post-graduation activity. The survey asked students which best described their post graduation activity:

- I have secured a full-time position. (on average 30 hours or more per week)
- I am working in a full-time position I previously had. (on average 30 hours or more per week)
- I am currently unemployed, but actively seeking a full-time position.
- I am currently working in a part-time position, but actively seeking a full-time professional position. (on average less than 30 hours per week)
- I have been admitted to graduate or professional school.
- I have applied to graduate/professional school and am waiting on an admission decision.
- I am enrolling in additional undergraduate classes.
- I will be serving with a branch of the military.
- I will be serving in a full-time volunteer or service activity (e.g., Peace Corps).
- Not seeking employment or continuing education

In addition to this data point, the survey also asked graduates to report their salary and provide further information about their employment or continuing education.

Methodology

The First Destination Survey invitation was sent 4 times by email in the month prior to graduation from the dean of each college to all students who had applied to graduate. It was sent again multiple times post-graduation. The online survey instrument was the first means of obtaining responses from the graduates.

In an effort to reach graduates who had not responded to the emailed survey links, the Career Center followed up individually with graduates by phone. These phone calls allowed the Career Center staff to speak with graduates about their employment status as well as how the Career Center might be able to aid them in their job search. The Career Center followed up with non-respondents and those who had not found employment or graduate school admission up to 6 months after their graduation. The survey was closed in December 2014.

Using the methods outlined above, we were able to account for the post-graduation activities of 1308 students or 66% of the entire class of graduates.
